REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: It is agreed that neither Sato et al nor Takahashi the linear guide mechanisms that perform the functions of preventing rotations and limiting rotation as claims in claim 1. Sato et al also fails to disclose the limitations "a linear displacement mechanism which integrally moves said first sub-lens group frame and said second sub-lens group frame in the optical axis direction, in said mutually close position and in said mutually distant position". The prior art does not disclose or fairly suggest, by themselves or in combining with any other reference, to meet the limitations as claimed in claim 1. Therefore claims 1-8 could be allowable over the prior art of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Huy K. Mai whose telephone number is (571) 272-2334. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F (8:00-4:30).

Sir:

In response to the Final Official Action of November 13, 2003, in which a three-month shortened statutory period for response was set to expire on February 13, 2004, Applicants respectfully request reconsideration and withdrawal of the outstanding rejections set forth in the above-mentioned Official Action in view of the herein contained amendments and remarks.

Amendments to the Claims are reflected in the listing of claims that begins on page 2 of this paper.

Remarks begin on page 6 of this paper.

AMENDMENTS IN THE CLAIMS

The claims in this listing will replace all prior versions, and listings, of claims in the application.

1. (Currently amended) A lens drive mechanism comprising:

a first sub-lens group frame and a second sub-lens group frame for supporting a first sub-lens group and a second sub-lens group, respectively, said sub-lens groups functioning optically in a mutually close position and in a mutually distant position, with respect to the optical axis thereof;

a support frame for supporting said first sub-lens group frame and said second sub-lens group frame;

a first linear guide mechanism provided between said first sub-lens group frame and said support frame, said first linear guide mechanism guiding said first sub-lens group frame while permitting movement thereof in the optical axis direction and that prevents ~~preventing~~ rotation thereof about the optical axis;

a second linear guide mechanism provided between said second sub-lens group frame and said support frame, said second linear guide mechanism guiding said second sub-lens group frame and that limits ~~while limiting~~ rotation of said second sub-lens group frame at two extremities of rotation thereof over a predetermined angle, and that linearly guides ~~guiding~~ said second sub-lens group frame in the optical axis direction at the two extremities of rotation;

a lens frame shift mechanism for causing said first sub-lens group frame and said second sub-lens group frame to move between to said mutually close position and said mutually distant position, in accordance with rotation of said second sub-lens group frame between said two extremities of rotation; and a linear displacement mechanism which integrally moves said first sub-lens group frame and said second sub-lens group frame in the optical axis direction, in said mutually close position and in said mutually distant position;

wherein a guide clearance of said first linear guide mechanism is larger than a guide clearance of said second linear guide mechanism.

2. (Currently Amended) The lens drive mechanism according to claim 1, wherein said first and second sub-lens groups form one of a plurality of variable lens groups for varying a focal length thereof, and said first and second sub-lens groups constitute a focusing lens group which advances or retreats in the optical axis direction while maintaining said mutually close position or at said mutually distant position, regardless of said focal length.

3. (Original) The lens drive mechanism according to claim 1, wherein said lens frame shift mechanism includes a cam surface and a follower provided on opposed surfaces of said first sub-lens group frame and said second sub-lens group frame, said cam surface and the follower being arranged so as to move said first sub-lens group frame and said second sub-lens group frame to said mutually close position and said mutually distant position as said second sub-lens group frame is rotated.

4. (Original) The lens drive mechanism according to claim 3, further comprising:
a positioning recess formed as a continuation of the opposite ends of said cam surface, said positioning recess defining relative positions of said first sub-lens group frame and said second sub-lens group frame in the optical axis direction and in the circumferential direction by engaging with said follower when said first sub-lens group frame and said second sub-lens group frame are in said mutually close position and in said mutually distant position; and a biasing member for biasing said first and second sub-lens group frames to bring said positioning recess and said follower into engagement, wherein said first sub-lens group frame and said second sub-lens group frame are held together in said mutually close position and in said mutually distant position due to the engagement of said follower and said positioning recess.

5. (Currently Amended) The lens drive mechanism according to claim 1, wherein said first linear guide mechanism comprises:

a plurality of guide bores formed on said first sub-lens group frame at different positions in the circumferential direction; and a plurality of guide rods loosely fitted in each of said guide bores and secured to said support frame;

wherein said second linear guide mechanism comprises:

a plurality of guide projections formed on said second sub-lens group frame at different positions in the circumferential direction; and a close-position linear guide slot for said mutually close position and a distant-position linear guide slot for said mutually distant position, said close-position linear guide slot and distant-position linear guide slot being formed on an inner surface of said support frame at different positions in the circumferential direction to slidably receive each corresponding one of said plurality of guide projections.

6. (Original) The lens drive mechanism according to claim 5, wherein a rotation-permitting recess is further formed on the inner surface of said support frame in the circumferential direction, for allowing said guide projections to move between said close-position linear guide slot and said distant-position linear guide slot.

7. (Original) The lens drive mechanism according to claim 1, wherein an actuator ring is rotatably provided in said support frame and is rotated to cause said lens frame shift mechanism and said linear displacement mechanism to operate.

8. (Original) The lens drive mechanism according to claim 7, said linear displacement mechanism includes a cam surface and a follower provided on opposed surfaces of said actuator ring and said second sub-lens group frame, said cam surface and the follower being arranged to move said second sub-lens group frame in the optical axis direction in accordance with rotation of said actuator ring when said second sub-lens group frame is guided by said second linear guide mechanism.
